Common Values

Arguments, Counterarguments and Courses of Action in the German and Polish European Policy

Tuesday 20 to Thursday 22 September 2016

With kind support of the Foundation for Polish-German Cooperation, the Polish-German Science Foundation and the Arbeitskreis Europäische Integration and co-funded by the European Union

Brexit, migration challenge, energy security: the analysis of public discourse in Germany and Poland, with regard to current political, social and economic challenges in the European Union, makes clear that not only are there divergent visions in the integration finality debate, but there are also different interpretations regarding common values and principles. This diversity of interpretation, approaches and interests is not only bi-national, but also intra-national, and applies to strategies of political elites, to media coverage, to public opinion as well as to analytic and academic discourse.

Against this background, the European Academy Berlin in co-operation with the Centre for European Studies (OBIEE) and the Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznań organise a conference and a subsequent publication entitled >> Common Values <<. The project has as its objective to address common areas, divergences, argument and counter-argument in the German and Polish understanding of the European Integration. The key issue is above all the question of how, despite the presumed conceptual differences, mutual understanding of one another can be enhanced and cooperation made more fruitful in and for Europe.

In the central focus of the conference will be the following areas of topic interest:

- 'The winner takes all?' – democracy, rule of law and the separation of powers as instruments of power;
- "How much Europe would you like today?" Implementing European legislation in Germany and Poland;
- "I want my money back!": Justice, solidarity and consensus finding as seen through the lens of multi-annual budgets and redistribution of funds;
- "The Great Energy Challenge": security, responsibility and national interests as exemplified in energy and climate policies;
- Flight, asylum, migration: respecting human dignity, maintaining human rights and the issue of European solidarity;
- Values and principles in the competition for integration: Europe's policies towards the East.

The conference is addressed primarily to the younger and intermediate generation of academic personnel and students, analysts and multiplier personalities as well as interested public from Germany and Poland. The conference will be held in English (opening debate in Polish and German with simultaneous translation). Please register with the attached registration form.

The selected conference outcomes will be published in book form in the publication series operated by AEI in the Nomos-Verlag publishers in either German or English. Anyone who is interested in this is asked by 31 August 2016 at the latest to send a brief thematic abstract (no more than 1500 characters) and some biographic details to Ricarda Lindau (p6@eab-berlin.eu). For further details see: www.eab-berlin.eu.

The European Academy Berlin (EAB)

was founded in 1963 as a non-party, denominationally independent conference venue and international meeting place, for study and information on European affairs and for civic education for adults. Activities in civic education focus primarily on tasks and challenges in European cooperation and integration, together with issues of international current affairs and modern society.

Developing didactics in teaching in European integration policy at schools and adult level is one of the focuses at the Institute of European Teacher Training, which is a part of the Academy. The European Academy Berlin is a member of the European Network for Education and Training (EUNET), of the European Movement Germany (EBD) and of the Arbeitskreis Europäische Integration (AEI).

The Academy comprises facilities for seminars and conferences and a co-located residential hotel () with 32 visitors rooms. For seminars and conferences there are lecture and seminar rooms, simultaneous interpretation, modern media and conference equipment. The Academy (building and grounds) offers wireless internet access (wi-fi).
